Back to School

Ahhh, fall has come, the school busses are running again, the kids are heading out in their new school clothes, and their parents are breathing a sigh of relief (or wiping a tear) as they watch them go.

Nate is in seventh grade now, the middle of middle school, and in the youth group at church. As Nate returned from the first youth event, "Jell-o night," I asked how it was. He said, "The music was loud, the kids were crazy, and the Jell-o was gross--I can't wait to go again!" Well, welcome to junior high life.

For third grade Andrew has moved to a new school, and is learning to find his place in the new routines. His class is combined third through fifth grade, with each child working to his or her skill level. He's really enjoying the interaction with the older kids and the challenges of this learning environment.

School Report

Moody Aviation runs on an unusual schedule in order to take advantage of the good summer weather. With our fall semester beginning the second week of July I have been working with recent Moody graduates who desire to become instructors themselves. The test conducted by the FAA for Certified Flight Instructors is demanding, with at least a couple of hours of oral quizzing and teaching demonstrations, and a couple of hours of flying while instructing.

The first of our students completed his oral portion on Thursday, but is waiting now for adequate weather for the flight portion. Three others should be ready to take their tests in a week or so. These are young men who are already committed to mission service (with MAF, JAARS, and South America Mission) Please pray with us for their success in this final phase of training.

This is what the LORD says—
your Redeemer,
the Holy One of Israel:
"I am the LORD your God,
who teaches you
what is best for you,
who directs you
in the way you should go.

The Girls

After multiple finger-printings and stacks of paper, we have received approval from the US government to adopt from Haiti. Now our stack of documents being translated into French for the Haitian government is nearing completion, and we hope to send them to the consulate in Chicago soon. Pending their approval, we will be scheduling a trip to Haiti to file paperwork there. Meanwhile, we've been getting to know Carmelle and Néhémie better through email.

Thanks,

Thanks again for your prayers and partnership in our ministry with MAF at Moody.

Gene, Jen, Nate, Andrew (Carmelle and Néhémie)

Praise God with Us!

For good training opportunities and safety as we flew this summer.

For students who are moving into overseas mission service.

For approval from the US government for our adoption.

Please Pray with Us

For our students' completion of CFI certification and their preparation for overseas ministry.

For the adoption process, and for all of us as we move toward becoming one family.

For our ministry support level, which is nearly $1000 per month below recommended levels.
